

AfricaOnline Ghana Limited improves high speed broadband offering

AfricaOnline Ghana Ltd, a part of Gondwana International Networks (GIN), will launch its new Radwin Network in Accra, Ghana offering reliable high speed broadband for its corporate clients. The pan-African service provider has further strengthened its offering through iManage, a smart desktop services and management application aimed at drastically reducing high corporate IT budgets.

The Radwin Network, offers fixed wireless broadband, which will initially cover greater Accra. They plan to extend the service to peri-urban areas in the next phase of deployment as well as to cities like Kumasi, Takoradi and Tamale where radio connectivity is already present.
