e.volution technology launch

Dear Marie,

WOW!

Helen Brown and I are just trying to come down from our endless succession of interviews with the media. We had no idea how much interest you could generate in this product in such a short time.

The media interest continues even now, and as you know Carte Blanche have agreed to fund a trip to France to film a full in-depth report on the car.

Marie, this is publicity that money just can't buy, and we cannot thank you and your team enough for the media management and the contacts you brought to us

Well done and we really look forward to the next phase of the project next year when we bring out vehicles for long-term testing here in SA.

Kind regards

Yours sincerely

Robert Terry
