

July 2013

To whom it may concern.

We first used the services of Grapevine Communications in March 2010 and continue to use their services today.

Marie and her team are extremely professional, passionate about our business and constantly pitch new angles and opportunities to keep our business relevant and interesting in the media.

Grapevine's team abilities that set them apart from other PR agencies are their extensive media contacts and their polished and well written press releases.

The value of publicity Grapevine has created for Ciro far exceeds their retainer investment fees and I highly recommend using their professional services.
