Dear Marie,

When we appointed Grapevine Communications last year in February 2014 for the inaugural Rare Disease Day campaign in South Africa, we did not anticipate the scope of publicity that your agency would drive for our foundation. Having our organization and campaigns continuously publicized has really assisted us in our efforts to raise awareness, and being noticed by international organizations such as Global Genes Project and Eurordis, really indicated just how valuable investment has been.

As a result, our sponsors and RDDSA acknowledge that Grapevine has a continued role to play in creating a voice and raising the awareness of our foundation and its many patients, and has been a substantially worthwhile investment for the organisation.

Our foundation enjoys your professionalism, valuable interaction, proactivity and creative ideas.

We look forward to our continued working relationship with the Grapevine team.

Sincerely,

Kelly du Plessis
Founder and Chairperson
